CAPS - CAREER AND PLACEMENT SERVICES

OFFICE OF CAREER AND PLACEMENT SERVICES

The mission of the Office of Career and Placement Services (OCAPs) is to engage students and graduates in the development and implementation of meaningful educational and career goals consistent with their personal values, interests, and abilities, as well as to help students and alumni to develop and set up their own business and create an effective framework for a lifetime of active career management based on a wide selection of professional activities and services designed to allow students to complete your training; carried out individually or in groups in order to increase your prospects of success in the employment market.

CAPS - CAREER AND PLACEMENT SERVICES

Career Services works to increase the success of our diverse students and constituents through career exploration, career planning, employment preparation, and job search skills. As a conduit for campus partners, we F connections between our office, employers, community, students, and alumni based on a wide range of events, resources, and guidance in order to address the ever-changing career and economic developments of today and beyond, as well as to help our students and alumni at any point in their career.

Placement Services is consistently involved in linking the University's educational offering with the best opportunities in the labour market through a solid information service for its students and graduates and a personalized guidance service aimed at promoting cooperation between the University and companies and accomplished, in part, through meetings and events in order to assist in career related matters.

CAREER DAYS

- ❑ Every year the University organizes Career Days, an event entirely devoted to career guidance with the participations of leading banks and enterprises (45), publication of jobs (1,200) and internships (800) for students.
 - ❑ The enthusiasm of students and graduates ensures that the event is a success. The initiative was started to provide support for young people looking for employment and for businesses that are constantly looking for individuals with specialized and qualified professional backgrounds.
 - ❑ During Career Days, companies and young people looking for employment meet in a friendly and informal setting to exchange CV/résumés and useful contacts, discuss professional career opportunities and thus lay the groundwork for future meetings and partnership opportunities.
